Infected district of Serbia.

The new discovery is hailed by the medical profession as one that gives great promise of giving science mastery over the typhus plague. Dr. William H. Welch, of John Hopkins University, in a communication to the committee said.

The announcement is of tremendous importance to the medical world, since it gives us a handle with which to attack the disease infelligently. If we can fight typhus in the same manner in which we have fought typhoid and ma-laria, this discovery will prove one of the greatest discoveries in medicine. It will probably become immediately avail-able for use in fighting the epidemic

Embargo Note Carries $200,000,000 DUE VACCINE FOR TYPHUS Rebuke to Ambassador

Diplomatic Reply to German Ambassador Resents Wall Street Broker Declares Questioning of Neutrality and Takes Firm Stand as to Rights and Duties Toward Belligerents.

State Department opinion is divided lutely clear, but I am, of course, per-oday on the matter of a possible Ger-lectly willing to state it again.

"This seems to me the more necessary oday on the matter of a possible German rejoinder to Secretary of State Bryan's note of reply to the German memorandum on the export of arms, inoculated by Dr. Harry Polz, at Sinat Hospital, New York. The efficacy of the vaccine may be established by Mr. Warfield, whose duties will carry him through the greater part of the typhus infected district of Serbia. government, but whether the department's reply will elicit a further statement of the German attitude cannot be

The American reply undoubtedly acuses the German foreign office of bad diplomatic taste, if nothing else, although it was addressed only to Ambassador von Bernstorff

Though carefully couched in diplo Though carefully couched in diplomatic phrase, the note of the State Department is considered a sharp notice to Germany that it resents having its good faith as a neutral impugned; that it dislikes the tone of the German communication; that it is proceeding in perfectly legal manner with respect to the export of arms, and that it considers improper the statements of the ambassador with respect to relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Prepared By President.

The note is comparatively brief. It is signed by Secretary Bryan, but was not prepared by him. President Wilson, with the aid of Counselor Lansing, of the State Department, drew it.

Apart from the language of the note itself, the State Department took occasion to give Ambassador von Bernstorff a reminder of the diplomatic proprietics. a reminder of the diplomatic proprietics. The German note was made public without notice to this Government. In the case of the American note in reply, the German embassy was advised concerning the desire to make the note public, and its consent was obtained.

Though the expectation of this Government is that there will be no other correspondence along this line, it is recognized as possible that the German government will not desire to drop the subject.

International Interest.

International interest has attached to the American reply, because the offensive tone of the German inemorandum cccasioned international comment and there was some hint of a demand for the recall of Ambassador von Bern-storff.

In the course of the reply, the ambassador is reminded that he has brought up some matters which are 4n-appropriate for him to raise, and he is told that the United States Government regrets that he has used language which was the construed as impugning which may be construed as impugning the good faith of the United States as

Here is the text of the note:

"I have given thoughtful consideration to your excellency's note of the 4th of April, 1915, inclosing a memorandum of the same date, in, which your excellency discusses this action of this Government with regard to trade between the United States to the nations now at war with Germany.
"I must admit that I am somewhat at a loss how to interpret your excellency's treatment of these matters. There are many circumstances connected with these important subjects to which I would have expected your excellency to advert, but of which you make no mention, and there are other circumstances to which you do refer which I would have supposed to be hardly appropriate for discussion between the Government of the United States and the government of Germany.

"I shall take the liberty, therefore

"I shall take the liberty, therefore, "I shall take the liberty, therefore, of regarding your excellency's references to the course pursued by the Government of the United States with regard to interferences with trade from this country such as the government of Great Britain have attempted, as intended merely to illustrate more fully the situation to which you desire to the situation to which you desire to call our attention, and not as an invi-tation to discuss that course.

Obligations As Neutral.

"Your excellency'e long experience is international affairs will have suggested to you that the relations of the two Governments with one another cannot wisely be made a subject of discussion with a third government, which cannot with a third government, which cannot be fully informed as to the facts, and which cannot be fully cognizant of the reasons for the course pursued. I believe, however, that I am justified in assuming that what you desire to call forth is a frank statement of the position of this Government in regard to its obligations as a neutral power.

"The general attitude and course of policy of this Government in the maintenance of its neutrality I am particu-larly anxious that your excellency should see in their true light. I had hoped that this government's position ioned in these respects had been made abso-Park.

implication was intended, but it is so evident that your excellency is laboring under certain false impressions that I cannot be too explicit in setting forth the facts as they are, when fully re-viewed and comprehended. Rights of Belligerents.

"This seems to me the more necessary and desirable because I regret to say the language which your excellency em-ploys in your memorandum is suscepti-ble of being construed as impugning the good faith of the United States in the performance of its duties as a neu-

'In the first place, this Government has at no time and in no manner yielded one of its rights as a neutral to any one of the present belligerents. has acknowledged, as a matter course, the right of visit and search and the right to apply the rules of contraband of war to articles of commerce. It has, indeed, insisted upon the use of visit and search as an absolutely necessary safeguard against mistaking neu-tral vessels for vessels owned by an enemy and against mistaking legal carchemy and against mistaking legal cargoes for illegal. It has admitted also the right of blockade, if actually exercised and effectively maintained.

"These are merely the well-known limitations which war places upon neutral commerce on the high seas. But nothing beyond these has it vonceded. I call your excellency's attention to this, notwithstanding it is already known to all the world as a consequence of the publication of our correspondence in regard to these matters with several of the belligerent nations because I cannot assume that you have official cogthat you have official cognot assume that you have official cog-nizance of it.

"In the second place, this Government attempted to secure from the German and British governments mutual con-cessions with regard to the measures those governments respectively accepted for the interruption of trade on the high seas. This it did, not of right, but merely as exercising the privileges of a sincere friend of both parties and as indicating its impartial good will.

Rules of War At Sea.

"The attempt was unsuccessful; but egret that your excellency did not deem worthy of mention in modification of the impressions you expressed. We had hoped that this act on our part had shown our spirit in these times of disshown our spirit in these times of the tressing war as our diplomatic correspondence had shown our steadfast refusal to acknowledge the right of any belligerent to alter the accepted rules of war at sea in so far as they affect the rights and interests of neutrals.

"In the third place, I note with sincere that in discussing the sale and regret that, in discussing the sale and exportation of arms by citizens of the United States to the enemies of Ger-many, your excellency seems to be un-Opposed to Big Navy

A debate on the question, "A More Powerful Navy Is Necessary to Maintain Our Interests at Home and Abroad," was won by the negative at the annual meeting of the Phocian Society of Gonzaga College last night. Thomas Payne and Donald Gardner spoke for the negative, and J. Eugene Gallery and Thomas B. Folliard the affirmative. Folliard was awarded highest honors for individual excellency, with honorable mention for Thomas Payne. The following officers were elected: The would arrest united with the nations at the United States with the nations at war would be an unjustifiable departure from the principle of strict neutrality, by which it has consistently sought to by which it has consistently sought to direct it actions, and I respectfully sub-mit that none of the circumstances urged in your excellency's memoran dum alters the principle involved.

Embargo On Arms.

"The placing, of an embargo on the trade in arms at the present time would constitute such a change and be a direct violation of the neutrality of the United States. It will, I feel assured, be clear to your excellency that, holding this view and considering itself in honor bound by it, it is for this Government to consider such a course. 'I hope your excellency will realize the spirit in which I am drafting this reply. The friendship between the peoreply. The friendship between the peo-ple of the United States and the people of Germany is so warm and of such long standing, the ties which bind them to one another in amity are so many and so strong, that this Government feels under a special compulsion to speak with perfect frankness when any occasion arises which seems likely to create any misinderstanding, however slight or temporary, between those who represent the governments of the two countries. It will be a matter of grati-fication to me if I have removed from your excellency's mind any misapprehension you may have been under regarding either the policy or the spirit and purposes of the Government of the United States. Its neutrality is founded upon the firm basis of conscience and good will.

assurances of my highest consideration,

Peter's idea of nothing in particular is that same John, and those who have heard why have not given him any serious argument regarding his attitude. John Tenis was standing in front of his brother's cigar store when two men came down the stairs to the right with a safe. It was a heavy lift, and they said in a tenor concert to John: "Say, sport, give us a lift." John took off his coat. That's what sticks in his brother's mind more than anything else. He actually took off his coat to help them get that, safe on to a truck. When they drove off they all but threw a kill to him.

New York Police Arrest Forty-Three "Fake Doctors" First Step in Movement.

NEW YORK, April 22 .- A countrywide crusade against medical quacks will follow the arrest of forty-three alleged "fake doctors" in a series of spectacular raids in New York, it is announced.

Authorities of a number of cities have promised to act at once, according to representatives of the State bureau of immigration and of medical societies. Unlicensed "doctors" who prey upon the ignorant will be driven out of business and every "free medical museum" in the country closed. Detectives were busy today rounding up the few "doctors" who escaped yesterday's raids. The police allegithat in one instance a "doctor" sold a poor widow a bottle of water for $300, representing it to be a radium treatment that would cure her baby's stiff shoulder. stiff shoulder.

NYACK, N. Y., April 22.-Bart Dunn, Tammany politician, indicted for highway fraud in Rockland county, who had been a fugitive from justice for a long time, has been arrested in a santtarium at Butler, N. J., and being too ill to be removed was placed in the custody of a New Jersey officer

Dunn was located by Special District Attorney Benjamin Haas, who, with Under Sheriff Deno-Yelles, left at once for Butler. When the two entered Dunn's room they found him only a shadow of his former self. The superintendent of the sanitarium denied that Dunn was there until a warrant charg-ing him with being a fugitive from jusice was presented. The superintendent refused to allow Dunn to leave the place and Attorney Haas got into communication with Prosecutor Reed at Morristown. Commitment papers were then served upon the prisoner, but he will be kept there until well enough to be removed to New York State.
